Center for International Business Education and Research (CIBER) Support to Moore School of Business Doctoral Students:

The Moore School of Business CIBER is pleased to have the opportunity to make limited funding available in order to support Moore School of Business Doctoral Students with their attendance at conferences during each fiscal year. That CIBER support is dependent upon the following:

- The conference location can be either at a domestic or an international site
- The student MUST be presenting an International Business-related paper at the conference (no exceptions)
- CIBER will fund ONLY conference registration fees up to a maximum of $300 per student for a maximum of one conference per fiscal year
- Any publications arising from the paper presentation MUST include acknowledgement of CIBER-support, and should be included in the CIBER Working Paper Series

All students are encouraged to see their home department for any possible additional financial support, as well as the USC Graduate School, if applicable.

Any questions concerning this policy, as well as making arrangements to receive the funding, please contact Mike Shealy, CIBER Director, at shealy@sc.edu or 777-6942.
